Note and Comment

Rev. Dr. Rose, the well-known Methodist minister of Winnipeg, has the following interesting comment to make in regard to the charges that have recently been preferred against Dominion ministers of the Crown:

"I must confess" he says "that five years' residence in Ottawa taught me one thing, to distrust utterly the gossip which prevails in regard to our public men. To credit what one hears there is to believe in no one's honor, honesty, or chastity. The greater part of what was said I knew to be untrue, and I came, in time, to discredit the rest. To secure the smallest political advantage, the lowest and most unworthy tales against the uprightness and decency of public men are sometimes circulated. No reputation seems wholly safe. The contribution to public righteousness most needed is a sturdy campaign against falsehood and slander, and a plea for the charity which hopeth all things. To accept, and from the well-protected pulpit, to repeat the unspecified and unsubstantiated charges against men in high places, appears to me to be guilty of taking up a reproach against one's neighbor."

There is no questioning the truth of this. We have all had stories of men occupying positions of prominence repeated to us as based on undoubted fact, which later we have had clearly shown to us had no foundation whatever. But they are seldom attacked by the scandalmonger, if they have not done something at some time to give color to the charges made against them. An incident in the recent "wine, women and graft" debate showed that it is possible for a public man to so conduct himself that he need never fear that the slanderer's shafts, so far as his private life is concerned, will be directed against him. Mr. Bourassa was asking what ministers were referred to by Mr. Fowler. "Did he mean the minister of Finance (Mr. Fielding) or the Minister of Agriculture (Mr. Fisher)?" he queried. Loud laughter, the report says, greeted his question. Could any high sounding tribute be half so gratifying to the two gentlemen mentioned? They had conducted themselves in such a way that no one could for a moment credit anyone who attempted to associate their names with a scandal. If some of their associates are wrongly accused and the accusations are given credence to, have they not themselves to blame to a large extent? Was it not open to them to be as discreet as Mr. Fielding and Mr. Fisher had evidently been?

All this has direct reference to public men. But does it not apply as well to men and women in all walks of life?

The Edmonton Bulletin's Ottawa correspondent waxes very indignant over the Emmerson case:

"Things have surely reached an infamous climax" he writes "when a man's life may be ruined, and the

"THE HABITANT."

(From the volume issued by Dr. Drummond under this title ten years ago.)

Canada has during the past week sustained a very real loss in the death of Dr. W. H. Drummond, the poet of the French Canadian "habitant". He was in the full prime of life and could reasonably have been expected to have many years of great usefulness and activity before him. He was the most distinctively Canadian poet to which the Dominion could lay claim and the type, which the artist has pictured in the above drawing, has been, it is safe to say even at this date, immortalized by his verse. He was of Irish birth but from the age of eleven lived and worked amid French Canadian surroundings. Into all parts of the Dominion his work has gone and brought pleasure in its train. Many a joyous evening has been spent in the reading of the experiences of "Poleon Dore, of Jean Bateese Trudeau and of the "Old tam on Boyd-au-plouffe." "Le Vieux Temps" and it is not alone, ranks with the highest poetical effort.

But it is not purely on its literary side that Dr. Drummond's work has value. A great French-Canadian, Dr. Louis Frechette, has paid this tribute to it:

"He has done the work of a good citizen. For the light in which he has presented French-Canadians cannot fail to raise my compatriots in the estimation of their fellow-citizens who speak the English tongue and who have not had the opportunity to study them as closely as Dr. Drummond. He could not be more sympathetic or just and such work as his cannot fail to cement the union of heart and spirit which ought to exist among all who go to make up the great Canadian family, called to live and prosper under the same laws and under the same flag."

country deprived of the services of an honest and capable minister because an unprincipled slanderer launches against him a story in which he denies there is any vestige or shadow of truth. It is a mighty poor reward for public service that a man must answer with his political life, not only for indiscretions which he may have committed in private life, but even for accusations in which he denies any foundation of truth."

Wouldn't it perhaps be well before wasting sympathy on Mr. Emmerson to wait till he had vindicated himself? The paper that made the accusations against him states that it will stand by them. We do not believe in adjudging a man guilty till he is proven so. But when some one takes the responsibility of making a charge against him, it is hardly the right thing to call the accuser a slanderer simply because the accused denies its truth. Further than this, does the Bulletin really maintain, as the above would indicate, that it would be a good thing for the country for a man to retain a high position in its service after the fact that he is a moral prodigal is a matter of general knowledge?

The Government was wise in not leaving the question of a site for the provincial university open for any length of time. The choice narrowed to Stratheona and Calgary and the decision in the former's favor has given no small measure of satisfaction to the people on each side of the river. The advantages which will accrue from such an institution are by no means small.

Ten years from now, the university and its affiliated colleges should have between two and three thousand students in attendance, while those employed on the various staffs will number several hundred. But there is not only the addition to the population to consider. The presence of large academic bodies in a city has a broadening and refining influence which is worth a great deal. On the other side of the Saskatchewan from the parliament buildings, an excellent site may be obtained, one that could not be equalled, we believe, elsewhere in Alberta.

Incidentally, the Saturday News is informed that the seat of government will be transferred to Hudson's Bay fort site long before the parliament buildings are completed. It is the intention to erect during the present summer a temporary structure on the government property which will accommodate the different departments and provide an assembly hall for the legislature. It will be much more satisfactory for all concerned than a continuance of present conditions. The building, it is expected, will be ready by November.

Mr. Oliver's land bill has been abandoned for the present session. Several circumstances combined to force the postponement of the measure. Sir Wilfrid Laurier's departure for the old country made it necessary to hurry through the work of the session and it was recognised as impossible to give the bill the close consideration that its importance demanded. Then Mr. Greenway's criticism had the effect of creating considerable antagonism in the Liberal ranks to its provisions. The Toronto Globe jumped into the discussion and demanded that the preemption clause at least be not passed just now.

It is worth while taking careful note of the reasons advanced by Mr. Greenway for opposing the measure. He held that 160 acres of land is sufficient to enable a settler to secure a competency, and if he were allowed to secure another quarter section, it would deplete too much the supply of land that the government had to offer as an inducement to immigration. But the point on which he laid the most emphasis was that farmers would be tempted to leave the older-settled parts, Manitoba in particular, and go further West.

"A man" he stated "wrote me the other day, a man who had a beautiful farm, and he said, I have a couple of boys growing up and I think we will go west and each of us get a quarter section of land. Well, I was perfectly amazed to think that that man would consider anything of that kind. But then I know the powerful influence, the desire there is on the part of everyone to secure more land, and that is going to be the effect of this bill. Some one said to me the other day that it was going to depopulate our province. I do not think that, but it will have the effect of taking a way from the province of Manitoba a very large number of people whom I would like to see remain."

But how can this be construed as to the national disadvantage?

With the Investor

The location of the provincial university across the river has been received with much enthusiasm by the citizens there and will help along the upward tendency of property values that has been so strongly in evidence for some months past. The Government's decision will certainly help Strathcona as a residential centre and it is the new city's residential property that appears to the Saturday News to offer the best opportunities to the investor. When high level communication is opened up, as it assuredly will be within the next two years, the two places will be to all intents and purposes one, and there is every indication that they will even become one municipality. That two very large business centres will grow up within the area, covered by the two, is impossible. That of Strathcona will necessarily be secondary to that of Edmonton, a fact which investors in business property would do well to bear in mind. Such a secondary centre, however, may attain to considerable proportions, as anyone who is familiar with great cities knows.

Certain it is that Strathcona business property is undergoing a great boom just now. Messrs Mellon and Stevens bought the Royal Hotel five years ago for $3500. Last week Captain Carstairs and P. McGinn bought it for $35,000.

A North Battleford syndicate has bought the Mellon farm, 2 and a half miles south-west of Strathcona post office, for $20,000, the rate being $100 per acre. A prominent business man of Strathcona refused the property at $1000 eight years ago.

E. Dobbs of Hespeler, Ont., proposes to establish a binder twine and grain sack factory in Edmonton. The city has offered him light, water, electric energy and a site at cost.

"Mr. Alvo von Alvensleben, broker of this city," says the Vancouver Province, "has just returned from Edmonton, where he went for the special purpose of making an investigation on the oil fields.

"Mr. von Alvensleben was very well satisfied with what he saw, and considers the outlook for the district is particularly favorable when comparison is made with California and Texan fields, with which he is familiar.

He says that the outcrop on the Athabasca River is much greater than he has ever seen in the South, and he believes it will be some day the largest oil camp in the world. He visited a property twenty-four miles north-west of Edmonton, west of Egg Lake. One concern is now bringing in seven carloads of machinery, which should be in position in a short time. In this section the indications are as good as any in California or the Southern States."

One of the large st real estate deals ever put through in Strathcona was consummated during the week when the hustling Edmonton real estate firm of Magrath, Hart and Co. purchased all of block 170 from John Walter paying $35,000 for the same. This block is situated between Whyte and McDonald avenue, 5 blocks west of the Canadian Pacific station and is one of the most favorably located blocks in Strathcona, should a traffic level be secured on the C.P.R. high level bridge across the river as the traffic from Edmonton over the high level bridge would pass down Anthony street, which runs along the west side of block 170, and turn onto Whyte Avenue at the corner.

That investors appreciate the favorable location of this property is very evident from the fact that fully two thirds of it was re-sold on Thursday without any advertising.

A woman real estate dealer is swinging big deals in Los Angeles.

Mr. Montgomery, who is handling the townsite of MacKenzie, the new mining town in the coal fields north from Edmonton, reports a brisk enquiry for lots and a number of sales consummated. Several parties have been out to look the place over with a view of locating, and are already making plans to put up buildings and engage in business. It is not the purpose of the Alberta Coal Mining Co., Ltd., who own the townsite, to engage in outside business of any sort, but will devote their entire attention to the development and operation of their mines.

The Alberta Coal Mining Company, Ltd., have put on an additional force of men at their mine at MacKenzie for the purpose of pushing forward the work of development. The contractors and material are on the ground and work on the construction of the "tipple" will be rushed as fast as possible.

Harold Nelson, the well-known actor, on arriving in Winnipeg to spend the summer, gave an interesting interview to Winnipeg Town Topics:

"Over the trials and hardships of last season kindly let me draw a veil," he said. "The unprecedented cold weather caused frequent illness of the company, as we were so often exposed to hardships by snow blockades, not to mention inadequately heated hotels and theatres. This caused a succession of understudy rehearsals which kept us 'hustling,' to say the least. Of course these difficulties had their amusing side and many were the humorous experiences that fell to our lot. Yet it was a relief when the season closed, and I trust that next winter will give us 'surcease' from such cold sorrow."

Note and Comment.

Who are better fitted for opening up these new lands to the West than the men who performed pioneer labors in Manitoba?

These farms in the latter province will not be abandoned. The land is too productive for that. But others will come in, who are not so well suited for the rough work of pioneer farming as they, and purchase their property. We can conceive of no better arrangement.

As to whether 160 acres is enough for a man, that is a matter over which there can be a reasonable difference of opinion. But the fact is, as Mr. McCarthy, the Conservative member for Calgary admitted in his speech on the bill, that the best farmers who come in do not think it is enough, and provision has to be made to meet their needs. Where railway land is available alongside their homesteads, they can buy it. But what is to be done for those who go into the areas that are being opened up, where there is no such land to be bought? If the preemption privilege were not granted them, would it not place them too much at the mercy of the speculator? By granting them an additional homestead at $3 per acre on condition that they perform certain duties upon it, a very large inducement will be offered to them to go out into the new country and land will be prevented from rising to prices that tend to discourage settlement.

Mr. Oliver's measure is certainly very strongly in accord with public sentiment in this part of the west and it is to be hoped that at another session it will go through without any extensive alterations.

By the deciding vote of the mayor on Wednesday night the Edmonton council resolved to grant an exclusive natural gas franchise to the Northwest Gas and Oil Company. Operations must be recommenced by June, and the company bore to a depth of at least 3000 feet. For a period of 15 years the city is not to grant a franchise to any other natural gas company unless the company securing this franchise fails to meet the demand for gas. At the end of that time the city may acquire the plant, at a price which takes into account wear and tear and adds 10 per cent. A modification of the price of gas may be demanded at the end of any five years. In addition to this exclusive natural gas franchise, a non-exclusive ordinary gas franchise is granted. Before coming into effect the arrangement is to be endorsed by a two-thirds vote of the ratepayers.

The council has certainly not been hasty in reaching a decision. The Saturday News has failed to comment on the question up to the present because each week it looked as if it would be settled before the paper could reach its readers. But it believes that the city authorities have acted fairly and wisely. The company in question has already spent a lot of money in the endeavor to develop what should be a source of great economic strength to the city and it is entitled to consideration while the terms imposed are quite adequate to safeguard the city's interests.

About Town.

The proceedings following the finding of the dead body of George Wood in the shack near the corner of Elizabeth and Kinistino have evoked much interest. Albert Jones, who claimed that he saw Wood murdered, and knew the murderer, swore at the coroner's inquest that he was drunk when he made that statement and that he did not even know where the shack was in which Wood's body was found. In the meanwhile Victor Houde, who is well known as a jockey and of whom no one knows anything to his detriment except that he was a hard drinker is being held on the murder charge, with Jones an accessory to the crime. The preliminary trial will be held on Monday.

A meeting of the directors of the Edmonton Exhibition Association was held Monday evening at which it was decided that the booth privileges and spaces would be handled by the Association this year, and not sold outright. Two delegates were appointed to wait upon the Caledonian Club who are anxious to include Caledonian sports in the program of the fair. A special committee was appointed to look into the matter of increasing accommodation for live stock and to increase the size of the grand stand and in general to get the grounds and buildings into a state of efficiency. It is believed that it is very necessary for the association to inaugurate a policy of putting up permanent buildings to avoid the waste incurred in paying out money for temporary buildings. It is also suggested that it would be very desirable to have the grounds plotted and laid out in regular order. This work can be done now much easier than five years from now. The space inside the race track should be put into condition for different athletic sports. Several applications are in from clubs for space to play inside the track and the secretary was instructed to try and accommodate all.

The city engineer has recommended the building of a street car line to Strathcona down Ninth street and along Saskatchewan avenue to the low level bridge. By charging a ten cent fare, Mr. Keely is convinced that the line would be a paying one from the first. When the high level bridge is constructed, it could be continued on over it so as to constitute a belt line.

The Imperial Life Assurance Company offices have been removed from the Sandison block to the Northern Bank chambers.

On Thursday afternoon fire broke out in Thomson's drug store in Strathcona and badly gutted it and the furniture store of McCallum and Westbrooke. While Bruce Armstrong, the assistant in the drug store, was mixing a furniture polish, an explosion occurred and the flames rapidly spread. Armstrong's hands were badly burned. The loss is in the neighborhood of $3,000.

The Thaw jury is out as the Saturday News goes to press and as they have been locked up for nearly two days, the chances are that there will be a disagreement.

The news of the C.P.R. wreck at Chapleau, west of North Bay, on Thursday, gave rise to many fears among those who have friends coming west.

About a dozen were reported killed, all of them being immigrants from the old country.

The train was running at a high rate of speed when several coaches overturned in the ditch.

Miss Jean Forsyth of Winnipeg, is a guest at the King Edward Hotel. Miss Forsyth has occupied a large place in the musical world of the prairie capital, both as a teacher and a piano soloist and it will be good news to Edmonton music lovers to learn that she is likely to take up her residence in the city.

J. B. Holden, M.P.P., Vegreville, Harry Bowtell, Vermilion, and Arthur G. Harrison, the newly appointed secretary of the Edmonton Board of Trade have acquired the property north of the railway at Vermilion, known as the McNamara addition, at a cost in the neighborhood of $10,000.

A new coal mining town on the C.N.R. 22 miles north from Edmonton in the heart of the coal mining district, and a thickly settled farming community. The C.N.R. procure coal for their locomotives from the mine at MacKenzie. Millions of tons of coal in sight.

The Alberta Coal Mining Company Ltd., will shortly install the most complete coal mining plant ever brought to Northern Alberta on their coal properties which adjoin the town site of McKenzie.

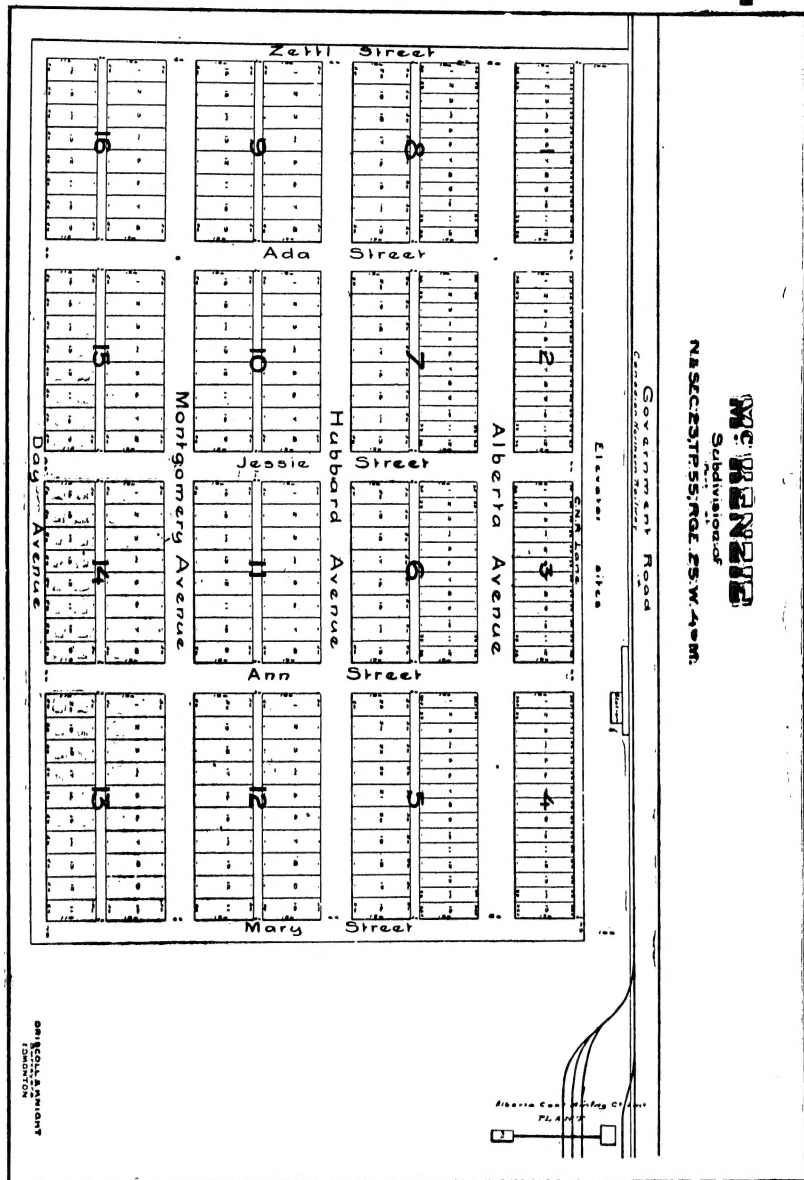

They own 1280 acres of coal land in the district which they have thoroughly explored. One section showing at a low estimate at least two million tons of coal, the veins running from 12 to 18 feet in thickness and only from 13 and a half to 28 feet from the surface which makes very easy mining. They are opening this mine on a large scale on a twenty degree incline, running their coal from the mouth of the mine on to a large tippie with one of Jeffries' endless pan conveyor belts which will carry 100 tons per hour. They will have the most up-to-date equipment for loading cars and handling coal, and will be able to mine and ship 2000 tons per day when in full working order, employing from 200 to 300 men. McKenzie is located in the heart of the coal mining district and has tributary to it some of the richest farming lands in the province, already thickly settled. One coal mine is already in operation, employing 100 men and shipping 600 tons of coal per day. The output of this mine is to be largely increased and 300 men employed in the near future, which means that there will be 600 or 700 men employed in the immediate vicinity of MacKenzie by the end of the present year. The C.N.R. are to build a station. There are some very fine openings for all lines of business at MacKenzie.

It will not be the policy of the Alberta Coal Mining Company, Ltd., to engage in outside business of any sort but will devote their entire attention to the development and operation of their mines. Several parties are already making plans to erect buildings and engage in business as soon as the snow is gone. THERE IS PLENTY OF ROOM FOR MORE. If you COME QUICK you can get in on the ground floor on business and residence lots.

SATURDAY, APRIL 13th

THE LEAVEN AT WORK.

The movement among Western Conservative members to bring their party more in line with western sentiment on the tariff question, to which frequent reference has been made in the Saturday News is no idle dream. Mr. Schaffner, the representative of Souris, Manitoba, last week moved for a reduction in the duty on mowing machines, harvesters, binding attachments and reapers from seventeen and a half per cent to ten per cent. This would be a real measure of tariff reform which would mean much to those who are engaged in opening up the Western plains. The despatch merely tells us that the motion was defeated but when the Hansard report arrives with the division list it will be well worth while perusing it carefully. Mr. Staples, Mr. Lake and Mr. Herron, three western Conservative members, spoke in favor of it as did Dr. Walsh and Mr. Henderson, two eastern Conservative members. On the other hand Mr. Borden, Mr. Foster, and other party leaders went into the lobby with the Liberals for the purpose of defeating it, making it evident that the Westerners have yet much work to do before their party associates give up the idols to which they have been so long wedded.

Mr. Knowles and Mr. Turiff, two Western Liberals, argued against Mr. Schaffner's proposition. It was, they declared, merely a political dodge. What if it were? If it carried, would it not be of the greatest benefit to their constituents? Would it not make a great advance towards the goal which the Liberal party before it came to power professed to be anxious to reach? It is true that in eastern constituencies, the Liberal candidates profess protection—its principles. But in the west they have always told us that they were anxious to secure a lowering of the tariff and that they were prepared to do all in their power to bring about this result. If this is the case, why did the Liberal representatives not join hands with these unexpected recruits from the other party, when the occasion offered?

The Conservative members, when another appeal is made to the electorate will be able to say that they have made an honest effort to bring their party into line with western ideas. "We may have failed" they will tell the western voters "but have you not more to expect from us than from those who in docile fashion follow the crack of the party whip on such matters? Strengthen our hands and we shall have the Conservative organization committed in time to a lowering of the tariff."

It is in the adoption of such a policy that the hope of Conservatism lies. It would give it immense prestige in the part of the Dominion which a very few years hence will hold the balance of political power and it would win for it very large support in the east, among the elements that pinned their faith to the Liberal platform of 1893. Undoubtedly, many of those who are at present prominent in the party would desert, but few of them are a source of any strength and their defection would be more than counter-balanced by the widespread upheaval in the Liberal ranks. Such a move would be good politics as well as good statesmanship and Mr. Schaffner's resolution may mark the starting point of one of the most interesting and important developments in our political history.

THAW AND RAYNER.

Attention has been called by the Saturday News to the striking contrast offered by the Thaw and Rayner cases, as illustrating the difference in British and American methods of handling criminal cases. The motive for the two crimes was much the same and the same kind of defence was offered in each. But the Chief Justice of England swept aside the sentimental plea offered on behalf of Rayner and he was sentenced to death after a day's trial. But the sensational newspapers of Britain (and there are some that are quite as yellow as any American product) set out to create sympathy for the condemned man and heavily signed petitions were presented to the Home Secretary, Mr. Herbert Gladstone, on his behalf. To these he has yielded to the extent of commuting the capital sentence to one of imprisonment for life. His action is very much to be deplored. It will have a very bad effect and make it much more difficult in the future to maintain the principles of British justice that have so long been the pride of the race in the face of the agitation of crack-brained sentimentalists. When Mr. Gladstone was admitted to the cabinet, it was recognised that it was solely on account of the distinguished name that he bore and he has been on all hands described as a complete failure. This last step of his should terminate his career.

Some of the statements made to the English newspapers in connection with this Rayner case show how dangerous such popular movements as that to which Mr. Gladstone has given way are. Here is what the Sheriff of Hull is reported to have said:

"Thank God for a Thaw and a Rayner, who are prepared to give their lives to rid the world of such pests to society as White and Whitley."

What a beautiful state of affairs we will have if we are to encourage individuals to go around riding the world of those whom they consider pests to society. We thought that the idea of civilization was that a man was entitled to his liberty so long as he committed no punishable crime and that when he did, he was to be given a fair trial.

If the sheriff had his way, we would sacrifice the progress of the past twenty centuries.

IN THE ATHLETIC WORLD

Sport's melancholy days do come.
In Spring, not in the fall
When its rather warm for hockey
And far too cold for ball.

The lover of athletics might take comfort these days either reading the sporting columns of the news papers or sitting back and letting his imagination have its way. But it is rather aggravating when he had counted on being out and at his game before this. It can't be long now, however, till he is and then the joy that he feels will be all the more intense on account of the backward season. I remember one such year as this in my boarding school days. I had been home for a brief period and coming back found all the games started. I began early in the afternoon with a game of tennis, then did a little fielding and batting at cricket, took a hand in a little lacrosse game, and after supper chased around the field after baseball flies. When I woke up in the morning, like the boy in the story, "I ached in every joint" but I felt that the day had been worth the painful morrow that succeeded it. The poet and the nature-lover may talk and write as they like of the joys of the spring time! But what do they know about it as compared with the youth who handles the racket and the willow or chases the festive pigskin?

One of the figures in recent sporting history who has appealed most to the imagination is Prince Ranjitsinhji, the famous Indian cricketer, who ascended the throne of his father a few weeks ago. An Eastern writer recalls Ranji's triumphs. It was only in his last year at Cambridge, 1893, that his talent was recognised, and it was two years later, when he appeared for Sussex, that the public knew of a star rivalling Dr. Grace. In his very first match for the county he made 77 not out and 150, and, scoring 1,775, with an average of 49, he was fourth in the averages at the end of the season. In 1896 he out-distanced Dr Grace's record of 2,730 by forty-one runs, and in a match against Yorkshire created the precedent of two centuries in a day. But the innings of his life was at Old Trafford in the following year, when England had to follow on and lost to Australia after Prince Ranjitsinhji had made 154 not out.

Even more striking than his prowess in Australia, which he visited with Mr. Stoddart, was his welcome in every part of a colony apt to be hostile to his Majesty's Indian subjects. He was, in fact, specially excluded from the provisions of the Alien Act although the parliamentary reasons for that step were unfortunately not recorded.

It was on his way back from the Antipodes that he revisited his native state, and his case absorbed much of his attention from that time. Not enough, however, to prevent him from heading the Sussex averages for seven years and those of All England twice. His average for 1900 of 87.5 is hardly likely ever to be excelled. While recovering from an illness he wrote his Jubilee Book on cricket, perhaps the most popular work of the kind.

Incidentally it might be remarked for the benefit of those young Edmontonians, who would like to have a try at equalling the Prince's record that there is every prospect that the capital city will have an excellent club this year, several new players of repute having come to town, and that the annual meeting will be held on Wednesday night at the office of the W. S. Weeks company, when all who are interested in the game are invited to attend.

The recreation club formed at All Saints' Church, which will go in for football, running and other games, promises to do much for the encouragement of amateur sport in the city.

Calgary celebrated in fitting fashion on April 5th the return to the city of Arthur Burns, the young Calgary runner, who succeeded in capturing the Macathon race at Seattle. This is a form of athletics which cannot be too strongly encouraged and it is hoped the hold it has taken in Calgary may have an influence throughout the province. Cover Point.

P. L. Naismith, general manager of the Alberta Railway and Irrigation company states that the company will probably spend between $40,000 and $50,000 in enlarging the main irrigation canal this season. Two dredges will be employed.

THE INN OF DREAMS.

When I go out from the Inn of Dreams
What do I find but a crowded street, Where life like a vixen scolds and screams,
Anxious faces and hurrying feet?
Commonplace folk do I pass and meet;
Sordid and strange and mean it seems
And I go my way as a strangeling may,
When I go out from the Inn of Dreams
When I go out back to the Inn of Dreams
Welcome waits me from roof to floor;
The lamps are lighted, the twilight
gleams,
And my heart's desire is at the door.
Would I mightbide here for evermore
And leave the mart to its noise
and schemes,
But alas! at best but a transient guest
A man may come to the Inn of Dreams,
—Theodosia Garrison in Harper's
Bazaar.

Three of us were having lunch one day this week at the little cafe around the corner.

Two of us were a bit tired. We had just finished reading an article on "How to exist on $50,000 a year."

It's queer you know but this sort of thing seems to strike a country in waves. Someone starts an investigation into something, and before the week's out the whole country goes investigation mad. They can't even leave the ministers alone —that is, referring always of course to the Ministers of the Crown. In the end what have you but a dismal heap of ruined "reps," the skeletons of many family closets, and who prays is the better for it?

But the latest craze to strike the conversational air is assuredly the cost of living. You couldn't evade it if you were immured in an hermetically sealed safe. It stares at you from every newspaper; the women talk it on every possible occasion, and the family provider harps on it as he orders another ginger ale to try and drown the knowledge of it.

By this time the magazines have taken it up, and divers writers from Dan to Bersheba contribute copious articles on how to keep the wolf away on $100 per etc. etc.

The man, though, who discovered
how you can reasonably enjoy life on fifty thousand has earned the palm so far as I am concerned.
I am persuaded that, always of course assuming that you keep a fairly tight hand on the purse strings, existence needn't be the wretched experience the poor rich would have us believe. If anyone challenges me to prove it, I only ask the chance to demonstrate.

However, we had drifted through the various courses of an excellent 35c lunch, incidentally discussing the same old problem, when the third man, who had been silent up to the present, roused himself.

"Do you know," said he, "All this talk about the present high cost of living makes me tired. Why, to hear some men and women talk in Edmonton you'd imagine we were a collection of cut throats and robbers out here. Only the other day I heard a woman comparing prices as they exist here with conditions in the East ten years ago.

"Its shocking," she remarked,
"the way we're being robbed.
Twenty dollars for a maid! I paid my girl in the East, six."

Yes," said I, "and if you went back now you'd count yourself lucky to get her for twenty."

"I believe the illogical creature imagines that conditions, back home have remained stationary since she came away."

"As a matter of fact," said this Satisfied Male person, "there isn't half the difference in the price of things that people generally imagine. Why, I can remember at the beginning of every winter, my mother taking the entire family down to be outfitted with winter flannels, heavy shoes, etc., etc.
The bills she brought to father after these excursions was simply tremendous. He didn't recover from them for weeks. Where the bills were paid in those days in a lump sum, of which the kiddies were often unaware, people nowadays fritter
it away every time they go up town.
This constant spending impresses them with the fact that it takes a penny to live under present conditions. It does, to enable them to buy everything they take a notion for.

"Entertaining costs a heap of course. All these Bridges and tea parties run away with the peace of mind and the odd dimes of the Head of the House, but if you'll remember they did a merry clip at the yearly party in our own young days.
Jove! I've just got to close my eyes to live over again those tremendous preparations for the event of the year.

"I can see my mother bending over the bake board a week in advance,
I can smell again the luscious hams, see the great shelves of custard pies and cakes and —oh but you know all the good things we used to have — for Ruggles' party would be discussed for weeks to come."

"They gave parties what were parties! twenty years ago.

"To-day it isn't considered genteel to offer anything satisfying. It's 'do have a sandwich Mr. —, I'm sure you're starved,' accompanied by a suspicion of bread without a suggestion of anything in between.
Give me the old parties and the big annual bills."

And then this inconsequential person paid $2.50 for his special order, stepped into his auto and bowled merrily off.

"It's too much a la John D. Rockefeller with his advice on how to gain the Kingdom of Heaven," said I, "to impress me very deeply." All the same, here's another contribution on "how to be happy though married," and crickets! I believe that even allowing for the advance in prices, I can solve the proposition.

Lieut.-Col. Macdonell, formerly Superintendent of Police at Battleford, has been gazetted a Major in the Canadian Mounted Rifles and will probably be placed in command of the new squadron to be stationed at Medicine Hat. In the necessary qualifying examination Col. Macdonell passed very high, making an exceedingly good percentage. To whichever post the Colonel is appointed the regiment will have the services of a capable officer and a real good sportsman, says the Battleford Herald.

On Saturday last J. F. Barker's store at Daysland was completely destroyed by fire. A clerk named Kelly, who, by using coal oil to light the fire, was responsible for the blaze, was seriously and it was thought fatally burned. The Presbyterians who had been holding service in Barker's hall, lost all their property.

Boring for natural gas has commenced at Lethbridge.

Sir John Stainer's cantata "The Crucifixion" was given a most successful rendition on Good Friday evening in St. George's Church, Fort Saskatchewan. The solo work was taken by Mr. Duff, tenor; Canon d'Easum and Mr. Gibb, baritone; Messrs D. N. McLean and W. Belcher, bass.

An Inland Revenue division of Calgary has been established to comprise the whole of the province of Alberta.

Lethbridge business men have subscribed over $5000 towards the establishment of a ladies' college in that city under Presbyterian auspices.

Lethbridge is making preparations to celebrate the city's first birthday on May 9th.

C. B. Bowman, late secretary and treasurer of Lethbridge, has been elected to the council in succession to Ald. G. W. Robinson, who took the post vacated by him.

Rev. C. C. Hoyle, late of Calgary, has taken charge of the Anglican churches at Leduc, Clearwater and Conjouring Creek.

A ten year old broke open two post office boxes at Leduc and rifled them. He was not prosecuted.

George Brodie has sold the Leduc creamery to Messrs Harris and Harrower of Craonbrook, B.C., who take charge on May 1st.

Vegreville Liberals have chosen the following officers for the year: Hon. President, J. Holden M.P.P.; President, Chas. Gordon; 1st Vice, Benoit Tetreau; 2nd Vice, Wm. Clements; Sec.-treas, A. L. Horton; Executive, M. Thompson, T. H. Charlebois, T. J. Cunningham, Dr. Rush, N. McIntyre

Three men, Charles Hutton, Henry Grewcutt, senr., and Henry Grewcutt, jun., were killed by an explosion at the colliery of the International coal and coke company at Coleman.

"There are three post offices in Alberta," says the Vermilion Signal "which have Vermilion either as part or the whole of their names. They are Vermilion, Vermilion Valley, and Fort Vermilion. Everybody knows where and what the former is. Vermilion Valley is a settlement in the Beaver Lake district to the West. Fort Vermilion is on the Peace River. This multiplying of a name is apt to cause trouble and confusion and it would be well if the government would take steps to change the names of the two latter post offices. Frequently mail for both these places comes here, as the best known of the three, and this no doubt at times causes worry and inconvenience to people of Vermilion valley and Fort Vermilion, through non-delivery of expected letters."

The News—No Pure Drug Cough Cure Laws would be needed if all Cough Cures were like Dr. Shoop's Cure is—and has been for twenty years. The National laws now require that if any potions enter into a cough mixture it must be printed on the label for package. For this reason mothers, and others should insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison marks on Dr. Shoop's labels—and none on the medicine, else it must by law be on the label. And it's not only safe but it is said to be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chance, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop package with others and see. No poison there! You can always be on the safe side by demanding Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Simply refuse to accept any other. #### OBJECTS OF THE A. F. A.

(Extract from the constitution of the Alberta Farmers' Association.)

1. This Association is not a political organisation nor does it purpose endorsing the policy of any politician, party nor the candidature of any politician and the object of the Association shall be—

- (1) To forward the interests of the producers of grain and live stock in every honorable and legitimate way.
- (2) To hold meetings for the discussion of subjects pertaining to the production of grain and live stock, and the best means of marketing the same.
- (3) To encourage the production of superior varieties of grain, and the breeding and rearing of improved stock.
- (4) To encourage the establishment of industries which will give the producer greater facilities for marketing his produce.
- (5) To obtain by united effort profitable and equitable prices for farm produce.

The terminal elevators charge 1/2 cent. per bushel for elevating and cleaning including the first 15 days storage, and 1/2 cent. per bushel for storage during each succeeding 30 days or part thereof.

The rule of the trade is that the shipper is allowed ten days free storage, that is to say, if he sells his product within ten days of its entry into storage, the buyer pays the storage, after that time the storage is paid by the shipper. The additional charges are forty cents, and twenty five cents, respectively, per car for grading and weighing. When advances are made by commission men it is customary to charge at the rate of 6 per cent on these advances from the time they are made until sale is effected on behalf of the shippers.

TO SECRETARIES OF LOCAL BRANCHES OF THE ALBERTA FARMERS' ASSOCIATION AND THE MEMBERS GENERALLY.

Three months has now elapsed since the Saturday News was appointed the official organ of the Association. Before it could fully discharge its duties as such, considerable organization had to be attended to. The severity of the winter and the consequent small attendance at branch meetings interfered to a large extent with the perfecting of arrangements. It was difficult to get into touch with the members. On the other hand everything which the Saturday News desired to do in connection with the conduct of this department could not be done at once. We may now, however, say that the work has been fairly launched and it is hoped that henceforth we shall be able to discharge fully the functions that the association has honored us by asking us to perform. We, however, require at all times the active co-operation of association members and particularly of the secretaries of the branches; and we desire to impress upon them at this time several prime necessities'.

First—A large number of subscriptions to the Saturday News have been sent in by the secretaries. But there is still much work to be done in this connection. An official organ can only have value, when it reaches all, or practically all the members of an association. We would, therefore, in our own as well as in the association's interests, urge the need of prosecuting the work of securing subscriptions from the members with all diligence.

Second—No branch should hold a meeting without having the secretary forward in a report of it to the Saturday News. We should be kept informed regarding everything that the branch is doing. In this way the scattered branches will be kept in touch with one another and the Association be able to do its work much more satisfactorily.

Third—All announcements of meetings of agricultural interest should be forwarded to us when arrangements are made in time to make it worth while. In some quarters the impression has arisen that a charge will be made for these. This is a mistake.

Fourth—The secretary should send a regular weekly report as to prices in his locality. A post card will serve the purpose. It is only in this way that members of the association can see that in their particular localities, they are getting fair prices for their products. The Edmonton prices are reported each week by an expert in this particular line and a report is received by telegraph each Friday morning as to markets in Winnipeg. We hope shortly to complete arrangements for a similar service from Vancouver.

Fifth—Each member of the association should remember that the columns of the Saturday News are open to discussion of all matters pertaining to the farmer's interests and we hope and trust that all will avail themselves of the opportunity. By thus allowing an exchange of views an official organ can be of the greatest value. The Saturday News sincerely hopes that all the suggestions will be given careful attention. It is anxious to do its part and looks for loyal co-operation on the part of each and every one of those whose interests it is using its best endeavors to serve.

THE ST. ALBERT PROJECT.

"Acting on the advice of the secretary of the A.F.A. the St. Albert branch of the association have decided to admit all farmers in the vicinity of that place to membership in their elevator company and as a body of farmers they waited upon the Government on Thursday last and requested that body to undertake the operation of it in the interest of the farmers.

The Premier speaking for the cabinet replied that it was a matter of far reaching importance the Government could not decide without giving the subject careful consideration; but would communicate to them in a short time. From the treatment they received and the interest the members of the cabinet manifested in the subject the St. Albert people feel very hopeful of success.

WHAT TO DO WITH THE WANDERERS.

At a recent meeting of one of our branches complaint was made that large numbers of horses and cattle roam the prairies during the summer months, and during the winter are left to take their chances on getting at some "easy" farmer's straw piles and thus be carried through the winter without care or expense to their owners. In the past little attention was paid to them, but as the country becomes settled and wild hay scarcer, the farmers have to rely more and more on their straw supply, and these wandering herds are becoming each year a greater nuisance.

As soon as it became evident that the past winter would be a severe one, the settlers secured their feed supplies against these estrays, and the owners being either unable to care for them or too negligent to do so, many a poor brute died from sheer starvation.

It was suggested that each local improvement district be authorized to construct a pound and appoint a pound master to take charge of all such animals and in this way protect the public against what is becoming in many districts a nuisance and also prevent unnecessary suffering on the part of these unfortunate beasts.

We think it would be a good thing if various locals would take the question up for discussion and give an expression of opinion on it either through the columns of the News or by resolution addressed to the secretary of the central association.

Practically all requests for legislation have a local coloring and in order to avoid making one-sided and half-thought out requests, it is necessary that men from all parts of the province express their opinions on every subject, and in this way ascertain if the evils complained of are general or if the remedy proposed is likely to conflict with the interests of other sections. It is the desire of the management of the central association that all requests bear the marks of careful consideration and discussion before they are presented to parliament or such other body as they may concern.

We are of the opinion that the troubles complained of are peculiar to those districts which are in the act of passing from the small ranching to the mixed farming state and in a sense they are local ills, but if the remedy proposed does not conflict with the interests of other localities; or if another remedy can be suggested which will not do so, we see no reason why the association should not ask for legislation on this point.

If the various locals will take the matter up and give an expression of opinion upon it, and if individual members will enter upon a discussion of it, either for or against, through the columns of the official organ they will render a service to the association as a whole and confer a favor upon us personally.

Careful consideration and free discussion are the best means as yet devised whereby mankind can avoid falling into error. Any organization which hopes to have its meritorious requests receive respectful treatment at the hands of parliament and the public, must reduce its impractical ones to a minimum. Once let a public body find it necessary to turn down a number of requests from an organization on account of one-sidedness or impracticability, they will, from force of habit, accord like treatment to really worthy ones. It is with a view to avoiding this danger that the above request is made and the hope expressed that all important questions be disposed of in the manner indicated. W.F.S.

partmental work has received more attention from me than any other as I am entirely in sympathy with the statement contained therein and it shall be my duty next session to protest still further. I am forwarding to the postmaster general your resolution.

With reference to the one referring to the issuing of railway charters without proper restrictions I may say that the general policy of the Government here is free trade in railways and in so far as I am concerned I would not be inclined to refuse a charter lest one bring about a much more pernicious condition of affairs than at present.

Clause two of your resolution is one that could not be incorporated in any general railway act because the engineer must determine where a road of any length is to go and as to extension of time I believe that is a sentiment that is growing on the people and while this particular resolution is probably operable in the provincial legislature I cannot say when it will be adopted in the Dominion affairs but an amendment to the railway act will be moved by Mr. Turfiff on somewhat the same lines as clause three of this resolution.

The resolution regarding the passenger tariff is practically met by a resolution of my own now before the House. Whether we shall be able to carry this or not I cannot say but it reads as follows:

Notwithstanding anything contained in the general railway act or any act of incorporation no railway shall be allowed to charge more than three cents per passenger per mile unless from investigation by the Board of Railway Commissioners power is granted to do so.

Concerning resolution referring to joint tariff over all railways this I presume refers to freight rates and it is relegated by the act of 1903 to the Board of Railway Commissioners and if it is perfected by them that board has no cause for existence.

The resolutions concerning the railways will all be referred by me to the Department of Railways and Canals for consideration by the Minister that he may know the sentiments of the farmers of Alberta.

Concerning the resolution which refers to the settlers' protection against the fuel famine this will meet with the heartiest support of everyone if some means could be devised and the same will be forwarded to the Minister of the Interior. This is also in accordance with your resolution referring to the prior rights of the homesteader to the coal on his homestead.

This will also be referred to the proper Minister as will also the amendment to the Irrigation Act with which I am not familiar but have given some study to it this session owing to certain charges having been made against the Irrigation Companies.

I propose to use your recommended passenger and freight rates in the House when my resolution comes up for discussion and you can rest assured that any reference to me will receive my heartiest support.

Yours very truly,

Wilbert McIntyre.

A NEW FIELD FOR USEFULNESS.

The secretary of the A.F.A. is in receipt of two requests asking for the assistance of the association along lines not contemplated in the constitution yet entirely worthy ones.

One comes from D. J. Moore asking for the whereabouts of his cousin Sam Moore.

The other comes from Mr. J. S. Bricker Rosser, Manitoba, asking for the whereabouts of a friend named Gehman who left Berlin, Ontario, about two years ago, and has not been heard of since. Any information which will put these people in communication with their friends will be thankfully received.

THE RED DEER BRANCH.

The Red Deer branch of the A.F.A. held a meeting on March 22 in Krauses hall. Eighteen members were present and Secretary Stevens of the central association as well. Two new members were enrolled. The President called on a report from the committee to enquire as to the purchasing of certain staple commodities. The committee reported as follows:

Barrel salt by the car load laid down at Red Deer, $3.13 per bbl.

Mr. Stevens here stated that it could be procured through Mr. Marker, Government agent at $2.82 per bbl. Formalin could be procured from the Bole Drug Co., Winnipeg, in 10 gal lots at 19 and a-half cents per pint; in 40 gallon lots at 18 cents per pint, the association to pay transportation. Grieve and Berry (local dealers) Red Deer, in 10 gal lots 34 and a-half cents per pint; in 20 lots gal 33 cents per pint. Both quotations for 40 per cent. formalin.

Grieve and Berry quoted blue stone 100lb or over at 16 cents per lb. This last quotation for a limited time. The next matter of linseed dealt with was supply and demand. Mr. Henry Jamieson has for sale 450 bush. early Java spring wheat. Mr. John Northey has for sale 600 bush. turkey red, some red Fife also some banner oats. Mr. Northey also has for sale one pure bred poll angus bull, 2 years old, and 5 or 6 calves coming year old. Oley Sanstrum, Calmer (15 miles east of Leduc) has for sale 17 head dairy cows and heifers, medium grade. He wants a Shorthorn bull about 1 year old having dairy strain. This last item was given by Mr. Stevens. Mr. Jas. Bower (R.D.) has for sale or exchange a shorthorn bull 10 months old. For sale only, 2 geldings coming 2 year old will make about 1400 lb.; 1 gelding coming 4 year old weight 1350; 1 mare coming 3 year old weight 1500. The next subject discussed was the price paid for hogs in the neighborhood, it being asserted with good ground that the price paid was not uniform, quality being considered, to all men. The association decided to purchase from Grieve and Berry 10 gallons of Formalin, the members subscribing for their various amounts. There was some discussion on loading platforms and beef rings, also the desirability of some arrangement affecting stray cattle in the neighborhood.

The President called on Mr. Stevens for an address. Mr. Stevens in his address explained the necessary expenses of the central association, the purpose of holding meetings through the country by Mr. Snow also the object of the farmers delegation that waited on the Minister of agriculture March 8. He warned the association to avoid bringing up too many matters for discussion at their meetings which he termed scattering.

A. W. Wilson.

From all points to the south, come reports of successful meetings held by Mr. Snow under A.F.A. auspices. The work which he has done should have permanent educational value.

The annual show of pure bred cattle, horses and fat stock at Calgary passed off very satisfactorily. At the horse show there were over 100 entries. This is an increase of 40 over any previous year. More than half of these entries were Clydes, the balance were Shires, Percherons, Belgians, Hackneys, Thorobreds, Standard breds riding and driving horses. The number of bulls sold by auction was 189; Shorthorns, 129; Herefords 49; Aberdeen Angus, 10; Galloways, 1. The average price realized was $76.78.

The average prices received for the six years previous were as follows:

Year	No.	Average Price.
1901	64	$85.17
1902	220	95.80
1902	68	96.60
1904	293	99.79
1905	340	69.28
1906	170	108.37

The early date of the sale is declared to be responsible for the low prices obtained this year.

At the public meeting held in the Alexander Hall a number of excellent addresses were given. Hon. Mr. Finlay assured the stockmen that his department was anxious to do everything in its power to advance their interests. One statement of Dr. J. G. Rutherford, the Dominion live stock commissioner, did not meet with approval in all quarters. With regard to the Dominion grants, he considered it necessary that the sales should be thrown open to stock from other portions of the Dominion, as the importation of stock and the improvement which would follow as the result of such a course would be felt a benefit to the interest of stock raising in the province generally.

The Calgary Herald says editorially: "The statement of the Live Stock Commissioner, Dr. Rutherford, at Wednesday night's meeting of the cattle breeder's association, threatening to withdraw the government grant if Alberta breeders shut the door against stock being brought in from other provinces, has very properly roused considerable indignation on the part of many of the large Alberta breeders."

"The fact of the matter is that the breeder of good stock in Alberta does not object to good stock being brought in, but he does very seriously object to the culls of the Ontario pure bred being drafted into this country, and Alberta turned in to a dumping ground for such."

"We had some experience of this several years ago, when carload after carload of inferior cullled Ontario bulls were imported into Alberta and sold at ridiculous prices."

"The Alberta breeders want good stock, and Dr. Rutherford had better be warned frankly right now that the Alberta cattlemen will not tolerate any such ill-advised interference or threats from him as a government official as to how the cattle breeders of the province shall plan out the best methods of growing and improving their stock."

At the meeting of the Fair's association in Calgary last week the following officers were chosen: President, H. H. Jenkins, Pincher Creek; Vice-president, R. A. Wallace, High River; Executive committee, T. Daly, Edmonton; O. Palmer, Lacombe; G. Rands, Olds; W. H. Fairfield, Lethbridge; E. L. Richardson, Calgary; Geo. H. Budd, Raymond.

Superintendent Craig made some very excellent suggestions looking to the improvement of the character of the fairs held in the province.

BINDER TWINE PRICES.

The Brantford Binder Twine Company quote the following prices delivered:

Samson, 14; Red Star, 14 and a-half; Special Manila, 13 and a-half. Time Nov. 15, on Bankable note. Quarter cent a pound off for cash on delivery of twine. These prices include a commission of 1c per lb. allowed to the person acting as agent. This commission may be saved to the purchaser by ordering through the secretary of the local and each farmer taking his twine when it arrives. This would bring the cash price down to fourteen and three-quarters, thirteen and a quarter, twelve and a-half respectively.

These prices are published for guidance more than acceptance. The policy of the A.F.A. is to patronize local men when their prices are right, and the above prices are published in order that the branches may know when the local quotations are right.

The report that Mr. McGuigan, who has resigned the managership of the Grand Trunk, will become general manager for the Great Northern has unusual interest in view of the fact that for years it has been known that Mr. McGuigan and Mr. Morse, general manager of the G.T.P., stood in the position of strong rivals. fashionable event in the Dominion capital.

The ceremony took place in Grace Church, and the service was fully choral. The decorations here were elaborately beautiful, consisting of quantities of lovely Easter lilies and white lilac, half buried in a mass of greenery. Above the spot where the bride and bridegroom stood was suspended an immense floral bell composed of white lilies and roses. Promptly at half-past two the bridal procession entered the church.

First came a tiny flower girl, little Miss Betty Hodgins, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Hodgins; then the bridesmaids walking in single file as follows: Miss Mary Gray, Miss Muriel Jordon of Buffalo, Miss Norah Sankey of Toronto, Miss Elsa Schmichen of London, Eng., and lastly the maid of honor, Miss Elsie Burn. Then came the bride, looking distinguished and lovely in an exquisite bridal robe of richest shimmering liberty satin, made in empire style with a front panel heavily hand embroidered in gold, with a long court train embroidered with an apple blossom design in gold, depending from the shoulders in graceful folds; the bodice which was also encrusted in with gold embroidery was trimmed with a berthe of rare old rose point lace, and the sleeves were finished with ruffles of rose point to match. She wore a cloud-like tulle veil and a coronet of orange blossoms and beautiful ornaments consisting of diamond ear-rings, a magnificent diamond pendant and necklace and a hoop ring of whole pearls and diamonds the latter the gift of the groom, and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and maidenhair fern.

The bridesmaids were gowned alike in Empire frocks of pale rose spotted embroidered Brussels net the edges of the skirts finished with deep tucks and shirrings of ribbon of the same shade, the yolk bodices and Marie Antoinette fichus to match the net, with insertions of fine tucked chiffon of the same shade, small Empire sleeves composed of tiny ruffles of the net with under-sleeves of fine pleated chiffon. Deep Empire girdles of satin finished at the back with large brilliant French Rhinestone buckles encircled the short bodices and Marie Antoinette fichus of Limerick lace edged at the top with lace-like wreaths of maiden hair fern and rosettes of bebe ribbon with long streamers completed these charming costumes. Their hats were decidedly chic and novel in style being adaptations of the Empire bonnet carried out in heavy white lace and guelder-roses with tulle strings tied beneath the chin and they carried large fans of natural lilies of the valley. The little flower girl wore a picturesque frock of white net and Valenciennes lace made in Kate Greenway style, with a poke bonnet of white shirred chiffon and ribbon. Mr. Marshall Graydon of London, Ont., acted as best man and the ushers were Dr. Fred Powell, Mr. Percy Wright, Mr. Shanley Sherwood and Mr. Archibald Gray.

After the ceremony the guests adjourned to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Powell, 283 Metcalfe street, where a reception was held, the bride and groom standing in front of the bay window which was banked with greenery and Easter lilies, the whole house being redolent of the perfume of lilies and roses which were placed about the different apartments in abundance. Refreshments were served in the oak panelled dining room where the table was centered by an immense wedding cake surmounted with real roses and surrounded by vases of lilies of the valley and white roses.

The bride was the recipient of a great many beautiful and costly gifts among which were included her household furniture, linen imported from Ireland, a piano, pianola, and diamond necklace from her parents.

The groom presented the maid of honor and bridesmaids with chains and heart pendant set with pale pink coral; to the little flower girl he gave a dainty pearl brooch in the form of a true lover's knot. The bride gave the best man and ushers diamond horseshoe tie pins.

Mr. and Mrs. Fisher left in time to catch the five o'clock train amid a shower of rice confetti and the best wishes of their friends. They will spend the honeymoon in New York, Atlantic City and the Southern States and will return to Ottawa for a short time en route for their future home in Cochrane.

The bride's travelling gown was of chiffon broadcloth in vieux rose, the short coat was made in cape-like effect with circular sleeves and a chiffon velvet vest of the same shade fastened with Dresden buttons, and her hat was of rose colored crinoline with roses to match and with this costume was worn a stole and muff of ermine.

A number of Albertans were present at the interesting event, among others the Hon. and Mrs. Frank Oliver and the Misses Oliver, Senator and Mrs. Roy, Senator Talbot, Mr. Fletcher Bredin, the Deputy-Attorney General, Mr. Sydney B. Woods and Mr. J. K. Cornwall.

I hear that the ladies from Edmonton looked particularly smart and wore lovely gowns.

is no indication of any cessation of gay doings.

Tuesday the Hospital dance came off, and was a brilliant success. I don't know that the Ladies' Aid benefited to quite the extent they had hoped financially, but that was really because every person was just a bit doubtful if Rennie's Hall wouldn't be too small for the comfortable accommodation of the two hundred guests expected. I know that I heard much talk to this effect. In any case the salle de danser presented more the appearance of a jolly private party than a public function where a crowd might reasonably be supposed to congregate, and for that very reason it was one of the most agreeable surprises of the season.

An innovation that proved most acceptable was the throwing open of the space at the far end of the hall, usually curtained off for the serving of supper. The extra room thus provided, and the improved appearance it afforded were the subjects of much favorable comment. When we were dressing for home I encountered one of the bright girl visitors in town and asked her what she thought of the dance. "What do I think of it?" she echoed, "Why, just what everyone must, that it's been perfectly splendid. But then you know," she added "I never knew a place where they gave such jolly parties as they do in Edmonton. It will break my heart to leave."

On Tuesday I think everyone was unanimous in expressing the same opinion. The Ladies' Aid among many other things, know how to give a ball "to the King's taste." Before launching into a description of the few gowns it is my intention to note, I think, if you will allow me to be quite frank, I would like to offer a word of criticism regarding the music provided. Candidly it lacked animation or any suggestion of "go." Surely we have passed the stage when "The Old Folks at Home" was the only waltz procurable. Half the success of a dance depends on the orchestra, and the catchy airs they furnish, but on Tuesday evening one might imagine the selections intended to soothe the ghosts of a century ago into a state of utter oblivion, rather than to woo the feet of youth and high spirits to tripping the light-fantasia.

To say that the light supper served by the ladies was delicious, is superfluous. It may be mentioned here that it was donated by the several members of the Aid and their friends, and Mr. Morton of the Morton Cafe, made and doled the coffee which was a treat.

Mrs. Braithwaite in a rich gown of black brocade with jet sequins. Mrs. Saunders in black grenadine with a handsome sequined berthe, and lovely diamond ornaments, and Mrs. W. D. Ferris in blue and white striped chiffon, with acornion pleated white chiffon and lace garniture, were among the members of the Hospital Aid, who did the honors of the occasion.

To discriminate among the guests is always a hard matter.

Particularly lovely was Miss Jessie Benson, in a graceful gown of pale pink crepe de chine, with an exquisite berthe of hand made tencrille lace on a pointed white chiffon foundation and a smart little wreath of pink rosebuds in her beautifully dressed coiffure. I thought this tremendously admired girl looking even winsomer than at the Bachelors dance, when she was undoubtedly the belle of the ball.

As usual the Misses Hudspeth were among the most sought after partners. Miss Gertrude looking particularly well in pale pink mousseline de soie, with Val lace and insertion and Miss Helen strikingly pretty in pale blue chiffon, over blue satin, with pink baby roses on the decollete and skirt and a wreath of the becoming miniature flowers in her fair hair.

Miss Campbell of Colborne, who stayed over for the dance, wore a most becoming frock of champagne colienne.

Another much-admired out-of-town guest was Miss Tilley, of Vancouver, who is visiting Mrs. N. D. Beck. Her gown was of white point d'esprit, over white satin, beautifully fashioned, and with a distinctly chic garniture of marguerites on skirt and bodice, with a wreath of the same in her coiffure.

Madame Auguste Noel, always a smartly-gowned woman, looked radiantly lovely in a French creation of exquisite lace over pink silk, the corsage and skirt elaborately hand embroidered in tiny pink forget-me-nots and green leaves, with shimmering sequins introduced in the arrangement of the decollete and the sleeves. A coronet of red roses, with a single splendid flower on the corsage, and beautiful pearl jewels completed a fetching costume.

Madame Thibaudeau, in the softest of ivory satin frocks, with berthe and ornamentation of the loveliest lace, and a gold sequined bow in her coiffure, looked as pretty as a picture.

Mrs. Duncan Smith wore the pale blue satin gown so much admired at the Bachelors' dance. Miss Woods wore a gown of exquisite black lace with a corsage bouquet of lovely pink roses, and looked wonderfully sweet and graceful.

Mrs. Stewart wore a pretty frock of soft grey and some splendid roses.

Mrs. Farquharson was a dainty figure in pale blue silk. Mrs. Housley, in the palest yellow silk, inset with designs in dainty insertion looked lovely. Mrs. Garnet Morris was becomingly frocked in cream lace with touches of pink bebe ribbon. Mrs. Pace wore cream satin striped mousseline de soie over pink affeta, with Dresden girdle and garniture of green and pink satin bebe ribbon. Mrs. York was gowned in brown taffeta with lace yoke and vest. Miss York wearing a graceful gown of clinging grey material with pretty lace garniture. Miss Dolly Greenwood was in black net with cream lace decollete and looked exceedingly pretty and attractive. Others I noticed were Miss Tyner, Miss Clarke, Mrs. Holly Ross, Miss Viva, Miss Abby and Miss Dorothy Sommerville, Miss athieson, Mrs. Witmann, and Mrs. Rae.

"I don't see why you Aldermen don't insist on having these crossings kept reasonably clean," said his wife as she clutched desperately at her ruined skirt to prevent it and herself from being swamped mid-way on Jasper and Macdougall. "Good gracious," said this much harassed city father, "what on earth do you think I am. The Lord Al

It was as far as he ever got. Next moment she was assisting him to rise. She had even the grace not to ask him to "finish" the sentence, but I have her assurance that whereas he didn't see his eyes are now opened.

"Awful winds we've been having," she murmured from behind the heavy veil that kept her wayward frizzlets in proper order. "Do you think so," said he of the New-market and immaculate bowler. "For my own part I don't mind." "Perhaps it would be better if you did," she cooed as he tore down the street, pursuing his water-logged head piece.

"In any case here's my destination," and then this daughter of Eve waited, until he turned the corner of the club when she contigued blissfully on her way.

The Difference

YOU must credit the "Dorothy Dodd" Shoe with one thing. It charges you nothing for reputation. When you buy a gown stylishly made and faultlessly fitted, you pay a price commensurate with the style and fit and the artist's reputation. So also when you buy millinery and kindred things. But not so when you buy shoes, if you but choose the "DOROTHY DODD."

Here at your convenience are shoes of faultless fit, with style of the greatest distinction, and in a variety from which you can choose for any and every occasion. Yet, you are sure always of a moderate price, no more than you would have to pay for commonplace shoes. If you are not now wearing the "Dorothy Dodd," may we not ask you to try one pair? Other women have been delighted with the change. So will you be.

THE LOUNGER

A yarn that reads like a fairy tale story comes from Winnipeg and it is because I know many old timers of the West now living in Alberta remember the subject of it that I am reproducing it from the columns of Winnipeg Town Topics:

In April, 1882, there came to Winnipeg a young fellow from Cobourg, Ont. The name of the hero of this narrative is Harry S. Black. Those who remember him when he arrived will recall a young fellow of very dark complexion, and features of a Spanish cast, about five feet ten, and weighing at that time about 180 pounds. He was a very handsome young chap, most affable and polite, yet smart and tasteful, and knew how to do things as they ought to be done. He went West, almost as soon as he arrived with a survey party, engaging as chainman with Mr. J. K. McLean, of Elora, Ont., who had charge of the Dominion land survey. For this job Black received the magnificent sum of $1 per day, and his board.

He returned to Winnipeg in the fall, and accepted a position with Messrs James O'Brien & Co., wholesale clothiers, of Winnipeg, as salesman. In 1883 he started on the road as traveller for the above firm, and paid his membership fee in the Northwest Commercial Travellers' Association. He left Winnipeg about September, 1883, first engaging with the Eagle Clothing Company, of Chicago, and later with Cisey, Miller and Co., wholesale clothiers as representative in the Northwestern States. On one of his first trips he met Miss Fuller, the only daughter of Robert Fuller, the originator of steel frame buildings, who was president for many years of the big American Construction Company, of New York. He married Miss Fuller about 1894, and a few years later Mr. Fuller died leaving an estate valued at twelve million dollars, which he bequeathed to his wife, daughter, and son-in-law, making them joint executors of his will. Black succeeded his father-in-law as president of the Construction Company.

About 1903 Mrs. Fuller died, the estate going to the daughter and son-in-law, and was then valued at several millions more than at the time of Mr. Fuller's death. Shortly after the death of her mother, Mrs. Black is said to have plunged into New York's most exclusively select society; but her husband did not share her pleasures. Mrs. Black, about this period is said to have become enamoured of a titled gentleman from sunny France. She tried to get a divorce, and it is said that traps were laid to inveigle Mr. Black, but he was too clever for her intrigues. Eventually a legal separation was agreed upon, with an equal division of the estate. Mrs. Black married the French nobleman, and is now living in Paris, recognised as a leader of Parisian society.

Mr. Black retained out of the estate, as a portion of his share, the big hippodrome in New York. This colossal building is said to be the largest in the world of its kind.

When the terrible catastrophe visited San Francisco, Mrs. Herman Oelrichs, of New York and San Francisco—who is credited with being one of the wealthiest women in the United States—was the leader of New York's four hundred. Mrs. Oelrichs, Mrs. W. K. Vandearbilt, Mrs. Perry Belmont, and Mrs. Ogden Armour were associated with the leaders of New York's society in getting up a benefit for the San Francisco sufferers. All the great artists known in the musical and theatrical world gave their services to this prodigious entertainment, extraordinary prices being paid for seats, a large percentage selling at $50. Mr Black placed the big hippodrome at the service of the committee for the occasion.

At the conclusion of the entertainment there was a gathering of those who had taken charge of the work, and Mrs. Oelrichs was congratulated on the enormous sum realized. She was introduced to Mr. Black at this time, whom she complimented by saying that they owed the success of their efforts almost solely to him, as no other building in New York could have held the audience. When a vote of thanks was tendered him on motion of Mrs. Oelrichs, he replied he considered himself the most fortunate man in New York in being able to place at their disposal the Hippodrome. If any thanks were due, it was to the ladies who carried the entertainment through to such a successful termination, and particularly to Mrs. Oelrichs.

Evidently the expression of these mutual congratulations was the beginning of a warmer attachment, for anyone who reads New York society papers will doubtless have noticed that Mrs. Oelrichs terminates her widowhood in June next by becoming Mrs. Harry S. Black.

By thus marrying one of the richest women in the world, Mr Black will add to his already immense wealth, all of which goes to prove the oft-repeated story that nothing is impossible that has its origin in Manitoba. But Harry Black beats all records; for starting in Manitoba at a dollar a day in 1882, he finds himself in New York a multi-millionaire with a wife even richer, in 1907.

"Miss de Smythe," began the young man, "I want to ask you a hypothetical question."

The girl nodded assent. "If a young man of good family and sound health, and an assured income of $5,000 were to meet the most charming of girls and feeds her on ice cream for a year; if she had a complexion like a rose, hair a crown of golden glory, the hand of a queen; if she knew how not to play the piano, how to induce her small brother to absent himself; was versed in cooking, competent to superintend a home; and if the young man auspiciously catching the girl alone were to murmur into her ear of pearl, 'Will you marry me?' What, in your estimation, would be her condition of mind, and what her answer?"

"While not an expert alienist," responded the girl coyly, "I think she'd believe him a chump for being so slow, but she'd say 'Yes.'"

With the preliminaries thus settled, the naming of the day was a simple matter.

"Effie," said Margie, who was laboriously spelling words from a first reader, "how can I tell which is a 'd' and which is a 'b'?"

"Why," replied Effie, wisely, "the 'd' has its tummy on its back."

While on his way to Ferry Point on the Daysland branch Mr. W. F. Stevens, secretary of the A.F.A. wrote from Wetaskiwin saying that the snow is disappearing rapidly, large stretches of bare ground being visible. Winter wheat is looking well, and the benefits of the heavy snow of last winter are being seen as it prevented freezing of the ground to any extent and the soil is drinking up the water as fast as the snow melts.

Capt. Phillips who is in Edmonton from Ponoka states that buyers there are offering 4-4 1/2 for fat steers and six and a half for fat hogs.

EDMONTON MARKETS

There has been very little change in the local grain market during the past week.

Deliveries have been small owing to the bad condition of roads.

Course grains show a firmer tendency, with oats selling at 27c to 30c per bushel by the load on the Market Square.

Elevator Prices.

No. 2 Nor. Wheat, 55 cents per bush.

No. 3 Nor Wheat 52 cents per bushel.

Lower Grades, 40 to 48 cents per bushel.

No. 2 White Oats, 25 cents per bush.

No. 3 White Oats 24 cents per bushel.

Feed Barley 27 to 30 cents per bush. Malting Barley, 30 to 40 cents per bush.

Average price malting barley 35 cents.

HAY

There is less hay being marketed this week than last on account of poor roads. Market square is nearly bare of offerings with a firmer tone to prices. Ruling prices about as follows:

Baled Hay in car lots—

Slough, $10 to $13 per ton.

Upland, $14 to $17 per ton.

Timothy, $17 to $20 per ton.

By the load on market square—

Slough, $9 to $15 per ton.

Upland, $15 to $22 per ton.

Timothy, $22 to $25 per ton.

Sheave Oats, $8 to $12 per ton.

Straw, $4.00 to $5 per load.

Coal, $4.50 to $5 per ton.

Flour, Retail.

Best patent, $2.30 per cwt.

Strong Bakers $2 per cwt.

PRODUCE MARKET.

Prices quoted are average prices being paid to farmers in quantities.

Eggs.

There is a better demand for eggs with smaller receipts, and a slight advance in prices.

Strictly fresh, 21c to 23c per doz.

Butter.

Butter is in a somewhat better demand with a firmer tone to prices. Fancy dairy, 1 pound prints, 30 to 35 cents per pound.

Good to choice dairy, 25 to 30 cents per pound.

Dairy in crocks and tubs, 18 to 20 cents per pound, creamery butter 30 to 35 cents per pound. Old butter, slow sale.

Potatoes.

There is a more active demand for potatoes with a small advance in prices.

Good potato selling around 40 cents per bushel.

LIVE STOCK

Fat cattle, live weight, 4c to 4 1/2c per pound; dressed, 6 1/2c to 7 1/2c per pound.

Live hogs, 6c to 6 1/2c per pound. Dressed, 8 1/2c per pound.

Live Sheep, 5 1/2 to 6 cents per pound.

Live chickens, 11 to twelve and a half per pound. Dressed, 15 to 17 cents per pound.

Old hens, live, 10 to 11 cents per pound.

Old hens, dressed 14 cents per pound.

THE GRAIN MARKETS.

Winnipeg, April 11th.

Wheat markets quite strong this week owing to increasing damage by green bugs and dry weather to the winter wheat crop in Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska, and the apprehension that further serious damage may develop. Prices in Winnipeg market have advanced 1 1/2c to 2c from a week ago, and there are good prospects of further advance. Oats are firm and demand good.

To-day's prices:

No. 1 Northern wheat 77c.

No. 2 Northern wheat 75c.

No. 3 Northern wheat 72c.

May delivery 78c.

Representatives of the Sons of England, the Welsh Society the St. Andrew's Society and the Caledonian Society, both Edmonton and Strathcona being represented, met in the office of W. Stewart Campbell, architect, on Wednesday evening and made arrangements for celebrating towards the close of May the two hundredth anniversary of the union of England and Scotland.

The Knight Templars of Edmonton attended service in a body on Sunday night at All Saints' Church.

The Strathcona Council has by resolution called attention to the utter inadequacy of the postal facilities in that city and asking for a new post office building.

Joseph Gilbert, whose death sentence was commuted to imprisonment for life, was brought to the penitentiary in Edmonton last week to serve out his sentence.

Miss Annie Mitchell, of Guelph, Ont., who has been appointed matron of the city isolation hospital, has arrived in the city.

The late passenger train from the south ran over and killed a man named Edward McMullan at Strathcona station early on Tuesday morning. He was in an intoxicated condition at the time.

Joseph Fife and Art Hutchinson have opened up a lunch counter in the new building next to the Seton Smith office on McDougall street, to be called the Boston Lunch counter. They will make a specialty of the short order and night trade.

C. W. Sutter, immigration agent, states that the settlers arriving in the city this year are three times more numerous than last.

Mrs. Pardee has been confined to the house this week with an injured foot. On Tuesday she was one of the much-missed partners at the Hospital dance.

The Attorney-General, Mr. C. W. Cross, left on Monday for his trip to the old country.

Mr. and Mrs. Henwood, Miss Campbell and the former's wee baby, left on Wednesday for Wetaskiwin. Mr. Benson, Miss Campbell's fiancé was a visitor at Up-down over Sunday.

Friday afternoon the streets of the West end presented an animated appearance, scored upon scores of smartly gowned and beautifully hatted women passing to and from the house-warming at "The Highlands," where Mr. and Mrs. McPherson have made for themselves the most delightful home.

The house is itself so beautifully situated, overlooking as it does the most glorious part of the Saskatchewan valley, that much might be omitted in the way of interior decoration and never be missed, but inside as well as out "The Highlands" is a triumph of artistic and cultivated taste.

The great sweep of verandah in front prepares you in a sense for the large airy apartments within.

As you enter you find yourself in a commodious reception hall, finished in dark stained oak, as is the entire house. On Friday all the rooms were thrown open for the comfort and enjoyment of the large numbers who came to bring good wishes for the new home and its popular chataleine.

Mrs. McPherson received at the entrance to the drawing room, looking remarkably pretty in a gown of Primrose yellow ecru, made with a guimpe effect of dotted embroidered white chiffon and trimmings of Val lace and insertion.

One feature that impresses you about this charming house are the large number of fireplaces, which lend to it an air of comfort unhappily only too seldom found. One burned cheerily in the drawing room on Friday afternoon and a congenial little circle was always to be found in its immediate vicinity.

In the master's study—an ideally restful spot furnished in Flemish oak, another sent forth a cheery blaze.

Upstairs in the fine airy sleeping chambers they were not forgotten.

But the dining room after all is perhaps the handsomest room of the house.

Here, as elsewhere, the wood work is in Flemish oak, the ceiling being crossed by the great rafters, which lend it an appearance of stability, not often found in modern dwellings. Three-quarters up on the grey tinted walls a plate rack runs around the entire room, holding many quaint bits of china that add a tone of their own to the generally lovely effect. The furnishings are all in keeping with the wood work, while handsome leaded glass cabinets are built in in old nooks to hold the finest of china.

On Friday the scene presented as the guests stood around sipping their tea and admiring everything was the prettiest possible. Mrs. Braithwaite, and Mrs. Campbell poured tea and coffee from a table centred with a great shower of American Beauty roses on a centre piece of exquisite embroidery.

Later Mrs. Cautley took Mrs. Campbell's place. Mrs. Seoble at a side table served the delicious ices. Mrs. T. S. F. Jackson invited the guests to the tea-room while Miss Jessie Lynch, the Misses Hudspeth, Miss Woods, and Miss Johnston assisted in passing the dainty refreshments.

A host of friends in Edmonton will regret to hear that Miss Helen Woods, who has been so popular a visitor in the Capital this winter, leaves for her home in Sherbrooke, Que., on Tuesday. Mr. Sydney B. Woods returned on Wednesday from his trip East.

Mrs. Bourchier and Miss Gladys Bourchier were the hostesses of a delightful little luncheon in honor of Miss Campbell of Colborne on Wednesday, when the Misses Hudspeth, Miss Benson of Port Hope, and Miss Woods, were the other fortunate guests.

The table decorations consisted of lovely white roses on a handsome lace centre. Later the guests went on to Mrs. Swaisland's Bridge, when her guest, Miss Benson was the raison d'être of a merry little gathering.

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Swaisland gave a matinee Bridge of three tables for her popular young guest, Miss Benson of Port Hope, when a most enjoyable afternoon was spent, and some splendid scores made.

Despite the King's rumored prediction for the new game, "Skat," Bridge is from all indications destined to be for many moons to come the game of the hour in Edmonton.

The hostess received her guests in a lovely gown of ecru embroidery over mauve silk, while Miss Benson was beautifully frocked in pink silk with handsome lace garniture. After the serving of some delicious light refreshments and the cosy chat that invariably obtains during this function, two very pretty prizes were presented to the fortunate winners, Mrs. Balmer Watt and Miss Gladys Bourchier. Those enjoying the game were: Mrs. Duncan Smith, Mrs. Frank Sommerville, Mrs. Seoble, Mrs. H. U. Lane, Mrs. Balmer Watt, Miss Woods, the Misses Hudspeth, Miss Gladys Bourchier, Mrs. Calderon, Mrs. MacPherson and Miss Benson.

Mrs. R. Kenneth of 7th street will not receive again until next Fall.

The Calgary Herald of Saturday contains a long account of the coming-out party of Miss Ida Allan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan of South avenue, west, when judging from the report, the most perfect arrangements and elegance characterized the happy event.

To quote from our Southern neighbor:

Standing in the reception hall, Mrs. Allan, handsome in heavy black Duchesse satin, the corsage and train relieved with shirrings of chiffon and sequins, received the guests, to whom Miss Ida was formally presented, herself very winsome in a bewitchingly simple French frock of sheer Indian mull over taffetas, with hand embroidery in eyelets, and wearing pearls, an heirloom of the family. She also wore a bangle of pearls and turquoise, the gift of her father and mother, and carried an armful of lilies of the valley and white carnations. With the receiving party was Miss Gladys McLean, one of Edmonton's beautiful girls, wearing a chic frock of cream dotted with net over silk, her hair admirably coiffed in quaint style. Another of Mrs. Allan's house-guests was Miss Ronch, who looked most attractive in white organdie with a heliotrope girdle and gloves.

One of the prettiest teas of last week claimed Mrs. Harry Robertson, of Seventh street, as hostess, when a congenial number of friends spent a happy hour discussing tea and the latest "what is what."

Mrs. Robertson looked remarkably well gowned in a pretty frock of cream liberty silk, while the artists

Harnessing Nature's Resources is the Foundation of the World's Largest Fortunes

IT MAKES THE POOR MAN OF TO-DAY THE MILLIONAIRE OF TO-MORROW

Gold, Coal, Iron, are but a small part of the riches nature has given us. Nature has been generous, greater treasures than have yet been produced are being discovered daily. Every new discovery of a staple commercial product, when taken advantage of and developed, is the foundation of a great fortune.

The oil found near Edmonton, Alberta, has an Asphalt base, and is of heavy specific gravity. It is strictly a fuel oil and needs no expensive refining, as it is ready for the market as it comes from the ground. The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fee and the Southern Pacific Railroad systems use it exclusively as fuel in their engines, hundreds of steamships and factories use it, and thousands of families use it for heating their homes;  $3\frac{1}{2}$  barrels are equal to one ton of coal.

The Railroads operating lines in and out of Edmonton haul coal for hundreds of miles at great expense. Oil would greatly reduce their running expenses thousands of dollars per month.

Asphalt for Street Paving

The oil sand, which is found 18 feet below the surface at Egg Lake, can be treated the same as the oil sands of California, and asphaltum made from it.

We have an advantage over the California Asphalt Companies in that we have the gas which can be used as fuel in treating this oil sand, and can be laid down in Edmonton for 75¢ less than the California product.

THE GAS WE HAVE

can be used for lighting purposes, and will be very valuable when it comes to melting the Zinc ores that can be obtained in large quantities in the mountains west of Edmonton, also in the manufacture of Cement and Glass.

Portland Cement

Portland Cement was first made in England in 1824, and in the United States at Copley, Pa., in 1878; since then works have been established in fourteen other States.

The growth of this industry is perhaps the most marvellous thing in the industrial development of that country.

This Northern Alberta of ours abounds in all the necessary Clays and Marl deposits for the manufacture of a high grade cement, and with the advent of oil there is no reason why this district should not become the greatest cement producing country in the Western Hemisphere.

For burning Cement manufactured from these substances the method to be adopted would be that known as the wet process, and a very hard coal is necessary (in the absence of gas or oil) which has to be finely ground in order that it will explode easily, this necessitates expensive grinding machinery and consumes much time and labor.

We have the Gas already, and all the foremost geological experts in the employ of the Dominion Government bear out our claims, that as far as geology can tell us we can get the Oil too.

Oil or gas would lessen the cost of production of this valuable commodity, and further, when Gas or Oil is used, as in all modern Rotary Kilns, the product is found to be of superior quality.

Chemical analysis of Cements show that owing to the impurities introduced by the ash of the fuel, where coal dust is used, the tensile strength of this Cement is very much a matter of speculation, whereas by the use of Oil or Gas for Fuel the strength of the product may be guaranteed by mixing the materials in their correct proportions.

THIS IS A STOCK WITH A FUTURE

We have invested our own money in it. The money that is coming in is being used to further our work and for this purpose only. We have purchased the largest drilling outfit of machinery ever shipped into Canada.

We are selling fully paid and non-assessable treasury Stock at 25¢. per share, par value $1.00.

We can prove every statement we have made and are anxious to do so.

tically appointed rooms were gayly enlivened with many bright spring flowers.

From a table in the tea-room, beautifully decorated with Easter lilies on a centre piece of billowy green silk half buried in other lily blossoms, Mrs. Robert May, Mrs. Archibald and Mrs. Pace served the tea and ices, while Mrs. Cooper assisted the hostess in receiving her guests.

A large number of guests found their way to Mrs. Geo. Stockand's pretty home on Eighth street on Tuesday, when she received for the first time since her marriage, being charmingly gowned in a lovely frock of white mousseline de soie, over white tulle, elaborately trimmed with Valenciennes lace and insertion. A necklace of beautiful pearls was also worn.

Assisting her in receiving was Mrs. Riddell, while the honors of the tea-room were dispensed by Mrs. MacQueen and Mrs. J. W. Morris, assisted by Miss Morkin of Winnipeg, who was daintily gowned in pink flowered organdie, made Princess fashion, with pretty lace garniture and touches of moss green velvet. The table was beautifully done with quantities of fragrant carnations, while softly shaded silver candelabra shed a subdued light over all.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold T. Brunton returned from a two week's visit to the coast on Wednesday.

"One result of the meeting of the Press association," says the Camrose Mail, "is the renewing of old acquaintances among the old timers who have scattered to different parts of the west, and only come together on such an occasion. One party that came down the C.N.R. contained Captain Thomas who arrived in Winnipeg so long ago that he camped at the site of the city hall; Major R. C. Laurie who came down the Red River by boat in 1871; and W. B. Cameron, who was in Battleford over 25 years ago and who was one of Big Bear's prisoners during the rebellion of 1885. Although the trips on the C.N.R. are proverbially long, this time it was not long enough to exhaust the stories of old times when Main street to the city hall to Point Douglas was fenced in with grain growing on both sides."

The death occurred last week in Trinidad from yellow fever of E. T. Hammett the first manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia in Edmonton.

J. A. Simpson, M.P.P. of Innisfail has been seriously ill since the close of the session but is now convalescent.

At a reorganization meeting of the St. Andrew's Society last Saturday night the following officers were chosen: George A. J. Kinnaird, President; A. C. Fraser, 1st vice-president; Dr. W. W. Mackay, 2nd vice-president; Rev. Dr. McQueen, chaplain; James McGeorge, secretary; R. J. Robertson, Treasurer, Executive, John A. McDougall, H. W. Mackenzie, R. A. Todd, R. M. Andrews, W. C. Cunningham; R. M. Andrews, standard bearer; George A. Reid, bard; Dr. Whitelaw, physician.

Mr. Bob Ferris of the Alberta lumber company is now in the general hospital convalescing from an operation of serious nature.

Rev. G. W. Fortune, Presbyterian minister at Red Deer, has been honored by having the degree of Bachelor of Divinity conferred on him by Manitoba college.
